WATAN's Plan for humanitarian response (beginning of 2018) focuses on Development and Education projects that support a strong foundation for the future of Syria and Syrians inside Syria and in the countries of refuge. It also focuses on developing Syrian refugee relations with host communities, and integration within them in order to build a promising future for coming generations by supporting their education and empowering them socially, financially and psychologically. Another focus is developing refugees' capabilities and experiences to open the doors of hope for them.

For its seventh year running, and in co-operation with supporting parties, WATAN continues to fulfil the basic needs of refugees in Northern Syria and in neighbouring countries. Since we in WATAN also believe that it is essential to focus on Community development and the development of the individual, 2018 was extinguished by numerous achievements. We strove with our local and global partners to form a nucleus for building a promising future for the coming generations.

2018 was extinguished by numerous achievements. We strove with our local and global partners to form a nucleus for building a promising future for the coming generations.

Chairman
Moaz Al-Sibaai

These projects did positively impact the direct beneficiaries, and actively contributed to an advanced level of Humanitarian work whereby there were secondary beneficiaries too. WATAN therefore expanded its projects in many sectors, including:

- Financial Empowerment projects, to help refugees integrate into the Job market in Turkey.
- Developing the work of educational programmes, increasing the number of schools inside Syria and providing University grants in host countries.
- The expansion of Women and Child

Protection projects and opening Community Centres in a number of Turkish cities.

- Implementing projects that support stability and development in the area of Dare' alforat.
- Quick responses to basic needs via shelter projects and health and medical services in Efrin and surrounding areas.

Chairman
Moaz Al-Sibaai

About Us

Who we are

WATAN is a leading Civil Society Organization delivering emergency relief, third sector support and long-term international development projects.

WATAN is committed to helping people and reviving communities. WATAN is independent, non-governmental, apolitical and nonsectarian organization.

We operate several integrated programs with the aim of addressing humanitarian emergency response and sustainable community revival through holistic and transformative approach.

We believe in the role of Civil Society in the various phases of intervention. Thus, we invest in supporting and developing Civil Society in our areas of reach. We also create platforms for coordination and integration to maximize impact on communities served. To achieve our goal, we seek to be the preferred partner for international agencies in areas of specialization and reach.

WATAN was established in 2012 as a framework merging number of organizations and groups that had extensive community development work going back to 2006.

Mission

Our mission is to develop a sustainable, healthy and educated community, based on inclusive society that positively engages, supports and improves the lives of each individual, regardless of their gender, faith or ethnicity.

We deliver programs that rebuild lives and maintain community social cohesion by providing transformative programs in reliefs, post-conflict-peace-building, education, economic empowerment, advocacy and development of strong Civil Society.

Vision

Free and dignified world based on tolerance, respect, and social justice.

Purpose

To help nations heal, learn and prosper.

Our Culture

Well run organization, innovative, strong partnerships, collaborative, always-learning, independent, committed.

Focus

We put communities in the center because we know that fragmented intervention would not lead to a sustainable impact. We believe in building strong Civil Society that would thrive on innovation, agility and continued transformation.

Values

Creativity, Transparency, Partnership, Respect.

2. Supporting the value chain of olives in Idleb Project

Project's aim:

This leading project aims to directly help and support 500 olive farmers adversely affected by the conflict, 25 women, and 5 factories in the province of Idleb. Providing services that focus on curbing the dangers, market value chain input, and providing input and farming equipment to support basic activities that play a crucial role in the quality of olive produce. This in turn helps farmers increase their resources and consequently improve their income by selling better quality produce to the local market. This has a positive knock-on affect on the entire chain.

Project's activities:

- Providing basic services: Ploughing, pruning, pesticide treatment, harvesting, pressure, distributing organic fertilisers, marketing.
- Setting up field schools for the farmers.
- Evaluating the needs of olive oil mills and providing equipment and infrastructure to make them work properly again.
- Training oil mill workers on marketing and discovering new markets.
- Promoting household produce by women.

3. Resisting, retaining, reviving - a three dimensional approach to address the lack of food safety in Syria

Project's aim:

This project aims to contribute to the endurance of the agricultural sector in Idleb and Northern Aleppo. Creating and providing livelihood opportunities by intervening in other sectors in the value chain, building manufacturing infrastructure, supporting services, ensuring food safety for affected families, and dealing with the effects of drought on agriculture by co-operating with local authorities.

The Project targeted interventions on four secondary levels: Crops (Wheat, Olives, Vegetables and sheep).

Project's activities:

First aim:

- Building farmers' and possible business owners' technical and entrepreneurship skills.
- Setting up farming groups and building their capacity.
- Handing over farming input to farmers.
- Marketing activity to support farmers' produce distribution, including setting up and supporting local markets.
- Setting up, preparing and renting out agricultural produce structures and generating income.
- Starting up businesses.

Second aim:

- Building the agriculture ministry's - and local authority's - capacity in management, entrepreneurship, managing drought, and managing land.
- Preparing a plan for drought management and land records.
- Carrying out an evaluation of the condition of the land, crops and animals in all areas.
- Distributing products in the community.

WATAN's sixth Annual Convention, Aspiring Future...

+2,700	Visitors to WATAN's first Supplies Exhibition
+40	Local, Arab and International media outlets and channels covering the Conference
6	Specialised work shops
+15,620	Hours of preparation by the Conference organising team

WATAN's Annual Convention Opening Ceremony was held in Elite World Hotel in Istanbul on Thursday 15th February 2018 and was attended by Turkey's First Lady Amina Erdogan and more than 600 Arab and International figures. Active Civil Society representatives and the main sponsors' representatives gathered in the Ceremony, in addition to Government representatives and international and academic figures who are active in responding to needs in Syria and Turkey.

There was a focus on developing work strategies geared towards building a better future for groups targeted by the organisations that gathered in the conference. This was in line with the Conference's slogan "Aspiring future".

Mrs Amina Erdogan in her opening speech: "We are all gathered here today around a Human chain - from different ethnicities, religions and languages but with one focus - to answer the call and find true solutions. Together, to find the solutions for our grandchildren, to treat the wounds that are bleeding. Healing is what revives the human. I believe our problem today is ethical and not political or diplomatic as the issue is essentially an ethical one. We are facing a global system that leaves a child without a father, mother, family or home.

There must be a revolution to awaken the human conscience. We must concur around a methodology set by international organisations and states and civil society organisations. In the past our Syrian brethren lived in houses and neighbourhoods and in a homeland but now they have been forced migrate and seek refuge in different countries around the world. As a mother I find this unacceptable."

The first day also included the opening of WATAN's Forum for assisting humanitarian organisations, which was held from the 15th to the 17th of February at the same place the Conference was held. A group chosen from various training organisations, companies and centres, exhibited its products and services in the humanitarian field.

The Sixth Convention included the first meeting for setting up a high calibre platform for workers in the humanitarian field who actively respond to the needs of Syrians in Syria and in Turkey. The Sustainable Intervention Forum included a discussion session that brought Turkish government delegates together with the main sponsors, local and international activist. The session focused on finding strategies that strengthen the response of Ecological systems by creating an active forum in the long term and continued support from interested actors from the Turkish side.

The Convention also included WATAN's first Training Forum where the latest training programs - were delivered - on important topics that are relevant to this period of response. The aim was development and growth among the youth, promoting their advancement and increasing their active participation in the academic and professional future. Consequently elevating them in the work and social life within wider society.

WATAN is a leading organisation in Civil and Humanitarian work. It continuously tries to widen and develop its success and strengthen the connections between members of WATAN's network, and between Friends of the Foundation, partners and Supporters. This is why WATAN's sixth convention focused on all areas that support Syrian efforts, not only inside Syria but also Syrians in countries of refuge.

WATAN's sixth convention also hosted a number of specialised workshops which included the launch of the first civil society bill particular to the Syrian case. Within the same context there were professional workshops in the fields of education, health, protection, financial support, and social support - in countries of refuge and transition.

The organisations that are affiliated to WATAN's network (over 50 local organisations) held their annual conference. This was aimed at strengthening co-operation and unity between WATAN's Programs and the network's own Programs in order to support their team and to develop a strategy for communication and continuous co-operation.

On the margins of the convention WATAN held a concert on the second day of the Conference. This was attended by a huge audience which exceeded 1200 people.

The evening included a theatrical show, poetry readings and singing in the presence of hundreds of people from the Syrian Community residing in the Turkish city of Istanbul. The concert, which was led by the singers Yahya Hawa and Mustafa AlAzzawi, lasted three and a half hours and included the participation of many Syrian children and families who live in Istanbul. A concert, stemming from the heart, is one of the annual events that are held as part of WATAN's annual convention.

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the Turkish government and people for sharing the Syrian people's hopes and pains, and for their continued support and generously hosting WATAN's convention during the last six years.

We would like to also thank every sponsor of the Conference, NORWAC, the Norwigen foreign ministry, the Dutch Foreign Ministry, Afad, the Turkish Red Crescent, and Namaa Organisation.

Together we will build aspiring future.

WATAN Network Conference

WATAN Network Conference is an annual conference held within WATAN's annual conference. The Conference was held on the 14th of February 2018 and attended by 46 member organisations affiliated to WATAN - consisting of 60 Managers and leadership representatives of Humanitarian and Civil society work. The Conference began with a speech by WATAN Network Co-ordinator Rami Musa, followed by a promo video of WATAN Network which included a description of the Network and its achievements in the Year 2017, the number of member organisations and their geographical distribution. After that the Conference was officially opened by Moaaz Al-Sibaai, Head of WATAN's Management Board, with an opening speech which thanked the attendees and explained the importance of collective work and substantial co-ordination between member organisations. He also explained that the Network is a long term strategic project and that the journey would be a long one where we will come across difficulties together, which we will get over - God willing. After that a workshop was held - entitled Future Scenarios of Syrian Civil Society work - led by Hosam Shaker. This had many outcomes, the most important of which was "Obstacles to Civil Society work and suggested solutions". In another workshop the roles of Co-ordination networks and the nature of their work was discussed. Also discussed was how to provide wider services than before, which contributed to the outlining of WATAN Network's Strategic Plan for the Year 2018, and the provision of more and better services to all members of the Networks.

Network is a long term strategic project and that the journey would be a long one where we will come across difficulties together, which we will get over - God willing.

WATAN Network coordinates the operations of the Syrian Network Association with one of the most important civil events: The four humanitarian Platforms' Elections

WATAN Network co-ordinated the operations of the Syrian Networks Association in the middle of 2018 which coincided with one of the most important civil events: The four humanitarian Platforms' Elections (SSG - ISG - HLG - ICCG). These platforms carry out humanitarian co-ordination operations across borders and outline Strategic Plans for Humanitarian Response in Syria. More than 90 Syrian organisations participated in the electoral process which was hosted by WATAN Network in the city of Gazi Intab. 8 candidates were nominated to run in the electoral process - 3 of which were successful - including WATAN - and gained 3 out of the four seats. It is noteworthy to mention that the Syrian Networks Association was set up in 2015 and includes most of the Syrian networks that are working on the Syrian case: WATAN Network, The Syrian Charity Forum, The Union of Civil Society Organisations, the General Syrian Union, Eilaf Union, SNA Coalition). The Association is considered the highest co-ordinating body in the process of Syrian Humanitarian Response and is mainly active in the city of Gazi Intab - where most Syrian Organisations are. The Association holds monthly co-ordination meetings, civil work updates and The Four Humanitarian Platform for Syrian organisations updates.

WATAN's participation in International Forums

1. Innovation 4 Crisis Conference

WATAN participated in this Conference which was held in Amman, Jordan. WATAN was invited by the Development Program which is affiliated to the United Nations UNDP. The event focused on finding new, more effective, joint solutions to face crisis that have lasted a long time, and the Syrian Humanitarian crisis in particular. The Conference's events included Learning and Innovation sessions whereby attendees shared their innovative works in order to extend learning and ability to innovate in Humanitarian Response. WATAN was also rewarded the award for Creativity for its excellent response to the Syrian Crisis.

2. High Level Official meetings on Syria

Due to WATAN's eagerness to be an influential member in the decision making process - in relation to Syrian Civil Society and its promising future - WATAN accepted the invitation, that was made by the European Union and the United Nations, to attend. meetings These meetings had resulted from the Brussels Conference which were held in Oslo from 19-20 March 2018 and in Berlin 22-23 March 2018.

The meetings discussed pressing humanitarian issues that have resulted from the current situation in Syria. Also discussed was the humanitarian element of the second Brussels conference on Syria which was held between the 24-25 April, and assisting in the preparation for the Humanitarian part of the upcoming third Brussels conference. The meetings also supported the International Humanitarian Community in strengthening its ability to respond to Emergency situations.

3. NGO Forum

The NGO Forum was founded in 2012/13 as an independent voluntary co-ordination committee. It is made up of NGOs and non-profit organisations that actively participate in leading the humanitarian responses to the Syrian Crisis across borders (From and to Turkey). WATAN is considered to be an essential member of the NGO Forum for the last three years whereby it hosted a number of members from the NGO forum.

4. The Strategic Direction Group (SSG) for the Humanitarian response to Syria from all sides

Membership (from all angles):

Forums for the co-ordination of International NGOs; Co-ordinating humanitarian matters office

Monitors: The International Red Crescent committee, The International Union of Red Cross and Red Crescent charities, The Arab Syrian Red Crescent

WATAN has been a member in the Leadership Committee since last year and attends all the Strategic meetings that are concerned with refugee matters and with the Syrian Crisis in general.

Success and Challenges

The Year 2018 witnessed large waves of emigration from Eastern Ghouta, Rural Northern Homs and the city of Daraa - towards Northern Syria. This suddenly and substantially increased the numbers of refugees.

The waves of collective migration posed a huge challenge - to workers in the humanitarian field, among them WATAN - Services needed to be provided for those refugees in addition to refugees that were previously in the Province of Idleb and in rural Aleppo.

However, thanks to the huge effort and fast co-ordination between the Program Managers and the Sponsors' Affairs Managers in the Foundation, and, the supporting managers and their teams on the ground - WATAN was able to cover a substantial number of needs. This was through a rapid response in a record time frame, providing food, shelter and health services to refugees.

The biggest challenge faced was in besieged areas as a result of a shortage in working personnel. However WATAN was able to train and build the capacity of new personnel. To increase the number of workers in the humanitarian field.
